Culture and Climate Update - April 2019

- We had another guest presenter, Jennifer Smolowitz, from the Mental Health Association of Delaware (MHA). She facilitated a conversation around suicide prevention and how educators can help. The session was informative and there is the opportunity for her organization to present to students, staff, and our families in the future.
- On our return from spring break, we recognized some our team members in honor of Administrative Professionals Week. Administrative Professionals Week recognizes and celebrates the work of secretaries, administrative assistants and other office professionals for their contributions to the workplace. These wonderful people do some much work behind the scenes for the rest of our team and our families. This is a small token to show how much ASPIRA appreciates them!
